TYDINGS COMMITTEE FINDINGS SCORE WAR-TIME WASTE

Findings of the Tydings Committee, as summarized by the Citizens Emergency Committee, emphasized that nonwar spending waste must be stopped, that Federal personnel now engaged in non-essential activities must be transferred to essential war duties. The report points out that: "The elimination or curtailment of functions not necessary to the prosecution of the war and those which are duplicating, overlapping and paralleling would make available to the primary war agencies personnel which is well trained and experienced in Government methods of operation. . . . Considering the present day status of the Nation, it stretches the imagination to believe, or even comprehend, that many of the functions still being prosecuted by numerous departments and agencies could be argued as being necessary to the war effort." Senator Tydings has introduced legislation authorizing the shift of employees from nonessential, nonwar agencies to war agencies.

TEACHERS OF BETHEL UNION AND GOULD ACADEMY HELD JOINT MEETING LAST WEEK

Thursday afternoon, Sept. 17, at 4 p. m., the teachers in the grades of Bethel and in the schools of the Bethel Union that are under the supervision of Miss Carrie Wight met at Hansom Hall with the teachers of Gould Academy to inaugurate a series of meetings which will bring the schools of Bethel and surrounding towns into closer harmony with the Academy. At this meeting there were approximately 15 teachers from the grade schools together with the same number from the Academy.

The first part of the meeting was held in the Academy building, where the Headmaster, E. F. Ireland, read a section of a report made by Dr. Payson Smith in his survey of the Academy during this last spring, which brought forth ways in which the relationships of Gould Academy and the public schools of Bethel and surrounding towns could be more closely united. Several suggestions were brought out at the meeting, whereby some of the facilities of the Academy, such as the Physical Education and Manual Arts program, as well as the Public Health program might be made available in a limited degree to the pupils of the town. Miss Carrie Wight, Superintendent of Schools, responded for the teachers.

The meeting was then adjourned to the Headmaster's home where Mrs. Ireland and Mrs. Vachon served as hostesses to a tea for all the teachers.

(Rockland Courier-Gazette) The engagement of Miss Dorothy Frost of Rockland to Sidney Howe of Bethel was announced at a luncheon given by Mrs. Alan L. Bird for her niece, Miss Barbara Derry, at the Bihl camp on Dodge's Mountain, Thursday.

RATIONING TO CUT FUEL OIL USE 25%—NEW RATION BOOKS

A Week of the War

Gen. MacArthur's Australian headquarters reported Sept. 21 that Australian troops have cleaned out the entire Milne Bay area at the Southeastern tip of New Guinea, thus consolidating the biggest Japanese defeat of the war in the Australian zone. Despite heavy fighting in the Owen Stanley mountain pass where the Japanese have thrust forward to within 32 air miles of the Allied base at Port Moresby, Gen. MacArthur's bombers and fighters have made heavy raids on Japanese troops and on key enemy bases in the northeast Australian zone in a continuing offensive.

A strong Japanese naval force, including battleships and cruisers, was attacked by Army bombers northeast of Tulagi, with possible hits on two battleships, the Navy reported Sept. 19. After the attack, the Jap fleet turned and fled northward. U. S. Marines continued to hold their positions in the Solomons despite constant air attacks from the enemy and successful landings of small numbers of enemy troops and supplies. U. S. planes destroyed 41 more enemy planes in the Solomons fighting. Army planes in several raids in Japanese-held Kiska in the Aleutians destroyed many installations and inflicted the following damage: two minesweepers sunk, six ships damaged, 500 troops killed, seven large and small planes destroyed. Two U. S. planes were lost in a collision.

Army headquarters in London announced a force of American parachute troops have been in Britain some time undergoing intensive training. Commander in Chief of the Pacific Fleet Nimitz said the Dec. 7 damage to Pearl Harbor has been repaired "far beyond expectations." The Navy announced the aircraft carrier Yorktown was sunk June 7 after it eluded 104 days of continuous battle cruising by locating the last of the four Japanese carriers which attacked Midway. News of the Yorktown's sinking was withheld, the Navy said, because the enemy possibly was not aware of it. The Navy also announced three more United Nations merchant ships were sunk by enemy subs in August.

Rationing "Three-fourths of the nation faces the prospect of uncomfortably cold homes this winter," Price Administrator Henderson said in announcing coupon rationing of fuel oil which will reduce oil consumption by 25 percent. Machinery for the program will be set up by Oct. 15. The area affected includes the 17 Eastern States and the District of Columbia, where gasoline rationing is already in effect, as well as Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Missouri, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Kentucky.

The Office of Price Administration said apartment houses and commercial, industrial and institutional establishments able to convert oil burning furnaces to coal, but which refuse to do so, will be denied fuel oil rations. Only hospitals, where such a move would present serious health hazards, will be exempted. Special provisions will be made in the rationing program for sections of the country with "unusual" climate. The OPA said consumers in the rationed area may fill their tanks up to 275 gallons between now and Sept. 30, but oil purchased during this time will be deducted from their allotments for

BETHEL POST OFFICE TO MOVE AGAIN SOON

The Bethel post office, who was moved across the street to its present location in the summer of 1941, will be moved soon to the Naimery building. Postmaster Herriek says the transfer will be made either on Saturday of this week or next, depending upon when the new quarters are ready.

BRITISH SUBJECTS URGED TO ENLIST IN THEIR COUNTRY'S MILITARY SERVICE

Capt. C. H. S. Tracy, R. D., R. N. R., Ret., British Vice Consul, was a business visitor at the Maine Selective Service Headquarters recently.

Capt. Tracy's mission in the United States is to inform British subjects that their government now calls for volunteers to come home and help defend the freedom which Great Britain has enjoyed for many centuries.

British subjects desiring to volunteer in the armed forces of Great Britain or in British industry are urged to mail their names and addresses to Capt. Tracy—British Vice Consul, 178 Middle Street, Portland, Maine. Capt. Tracy will supply information and accept applications of volunteers.

Expenses incident to transporting accepted volunteers will be paid by the British Government.

MAINE HUNTING THIS FALL PROMISES TO BE EXCELLENT

Last minute reports to Inland Fish and Game Commissioner George J. Stoble from wardens throughout Maine indicate that the hunting season that opens Saturday, Sept. 26, when waterfowl gunning will become legal, will be one of the best in more than a decade.

Partridge and woodcock gunning is expected to be at least as good as during the past few years and, in many instances, it will probably be even better. Pheasants also have shown an encouraging increase in nearly all regions where they have been liberated during the past several years.

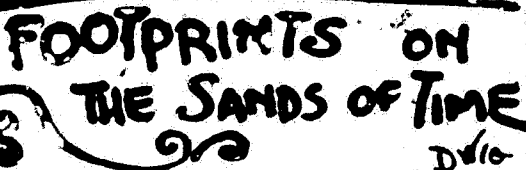

There will be no restrictions on Maine hunting aside from coastal shooting where Coast Guard identification and a hunting permit will be required and where the hunter must obey restrictions laid down by the army. Inland, aside from avoiding military and industrial installations, the hunter can conduct himself as usual.

Maine hunting laws this year are virtually unchanged. Waterfowl gunners, however, will profit by an extension of the season by 10 days over that of last year. Beginning on Sept. 29, the present season extends through Dec. 4. The bag limit on ducks remains at 10 per day. Only two geese may be taken per day, however, a reduction of one from last year. This season for the first time in many years, gunners may shoot one woodcock per day.

Deer hunting in Aroostook, Penobscot, Somerset, Piscataquis, Franklin and Oxford Counties extends from Oct. 21 to Nov. 30. In Androscoggin, Cumberland, Hancock, Kennebec, Knox, Lincoln, Sagadahoc, Waldo, York and Washington Counties the open season is from Nov. 1 to Nov. 30. As during former years, one deer of either sex may be taken.

Partridge gunning is legal from Oct. 1 to Nov. 15; on Woodcock from Oct. 10 to Oct. 24. There will be a two week open season on pheasant shooting this year from Nov. 1 to Nov. 14. All open season dates given are inclusive.

National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare

War industry has been told to start training draft-exempt people to take the place of physically-fit technicians now employed. That means that a big share of war production will fall in the future on the shoulders of women, of men physically unfit for military service, and of men past draft age. That will require readjustments and an immense expansion of vocational training facilities. War in-

The convoy system is working better in protecting merchant shipping in the Atlantic. Support for that assertion comes, by intimation, from the marine insurance underwriters. The other day they substantially reduced their insurance rates after months of steady increases. According to the Navy, ship losses in August totaled 31 as against 68 in July.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

SYNCHRO-SUNLIGHT FLASH

You'll improve the quality of many outdoor snapshots if you use a flash bulb to brighten the shadows.

THERE have been a tremendous number of important photographic advancements in recent years, but few have had as far-reaching effects as the development of the flash bulb and flash technique. Today the use of flash bulbs makes it possible to get many hitherto "impossible" pictures, and to save or greatly improve thousands of others.

Our illustration this week comes under the heading of pictures which have been "saved" by flash—the outdoor variety known as "synchro-sunlight." Without supplementary flash illumination this would have been a strongly back-side-lighted picture, with the parts of the subjects nearest the camera pretty much in deep shadow. But the use of a flash bulb at the camera brightened the shadows, revealed just the right amount of detail, and generally gave a more pleasing effect.

To make synchro-sunlight pictures like that, just attach your flash synchronizer to your camera, load it with a small flash bulb, sit some extra bulbs into your pocket, and head for the great outdoors. Then forget that you're using the synchronizer at all, and adjust your exposure and make your pictures as if you were taking regular outdoor snapshots. The light from your flash bulb won't be strong enough to carry very far outdoors or have much effect on the scene in general, so you don't have to reckon it into the normal outdoor exposure, though in real close-ups it is advisable to use a half to a full stop less exposure.

Synchro-sunlight flash, you'll find, is extremely helpful in brightening the shadow portions of outdoor pictures made by side- or back-lighting. It will cut down the density of deep shadows cast by the sun—those under hat brims, for instance. And it will enable you to throw light into difficult corners which you would otherwise never be able to brighten.

The next time you make outdoor snapshots try synchro-sunlight picture making. I think you'll like it.

How Chemistry Goes Into War

By Dr. Ralph L. Brown
Director of Research
Pennsylvania Salt Mfg. Company

TODAY'S war is a war of metals in tanks, ships, planes, guns, shells and the myriad other items necessary. In any metal fabrication work the metal must be thoroughly and speedily cleaned in various stages of manufacture, and here chemistry again serves.

Metal cleaners are chemicals and they help to conserve vital time and materials. For example, effective removal of oil, grease and other soils from structural and sheet steel before tin-plating and galvanizing is an essential operation.

Cleaning Machine Gun Barrels

In some cases, crates of steel are lowered by crane into a tank containing a steam heated solution of cleaner. After ten minutes, the crates are taken to a rinse tank and then are water sprayed.

In one plant chemists saved over 5,000 pounds of zinc a week—260,000 pounds a year, by finding the right chemical cleaner. That 5,000 pounds a week was formerly rejected due to improper cleaning.

Metal cleaners developed by the chemical industry are thus contributing to war production by removing and preventing redistribution of dirt, grease, oil, emery dust, rouge, carbon smut and grit. They clean carbon and alloy steels, stainless steel, copper, aluminum, zinc, nickel, brass and bronze, all of which find their way into war goods.

The chemical industry has created hundreds of such metal cleaners, and in daily research is developing new ones for new uses.

MARJORIE WON THE PRIZE

There were only five cars parked in front of Eve Meyer's house when the garden club met there the other afternoon although at least twenty women were present. But nowadays we double up when we go places and one car has to do the work of two or three. We brought our own sugar, too, because Eve had used up even her own sugar for canning. Otherwise there was nothing in that peaceful afternoon to remind us of war—until a truck stopped in front of the house and two men came up and asked for "the lady of the house."

"We are working with the salvage committee," one of the men said. "We dropped in to see if you have any old scrap iron or rubber you could give us. There's a shortage of practically all scrap materials so we volunteered to collect all we could."

"Well," said Eve, "I don't know that I have anything left because I have already scoured the house from top to bottom, but, if you'll wait a minute we can look around again and see." So, Eve took the men into the house and in a few minutes we saw them coming out loaded down with baskets of what looked like so much trash to us.

When Eve joined us later she told us that these two men had been working all week on the scrap drive and had collected tons of old scrap iron and rubber because many of the war plants may have to shut down unless they get enough scrap materials.

"If you have anything lying around that you don't need," Eve told us, "for goodness sake let them have it because they need it badly and after all, they are only after the things we don't need."

Well, the garden party ended up that afternoon as a scrap party and you should have seen the things we collected for the drive. There were old flat irons, garden hose, lawn mowers, rakes, hoes, old rubber gloves, jar rings—everything you can think of. But Marjorie really won the prize when she got out Ned's old broken-down car out of their barn and drove it down to the scrap yard. She said it took the garage man an hour to get it started but it wasn't doing them any good where it was and why not give it to Uncle Sam—he had always been pretty good to them?

THE CHANGING SCENE

More military planes are scheduled for production this year than were made in the U. S. from 1909, when the Army bought its first plane, to last December 7. . . . The mount for a 5-inch anti-aircraft gun weighs about 24 tons, contains 2,700 different parts. . . . A much rarer as would make 13 dozen pairs of stockings goes into the recoil mechanism of a 37mm gun—as packing to make it oil tight. . . . Chemical fertilizers that contain nitrogen, needed for vital war manufacture have been placed under nationwide control. . . . Fertilizers of this sort must now be packed in bags weighing at least 100 pounds, except for bags of 80 pounds and up already in manufacturer's stocks. . . . More than 10 per cent of our total war expenditures are for our allies' under lend-lease, but they're returning this aid in countless ways, building naval bases and airports, supplying our troops abroad.

Kidneys Must Work Well-

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood.

If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, scanty or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended the country over. Doan's stimulate the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful. Get Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

Lunch Boxes

ALWAYS plan your lunch boxes at least a day ahead! The meal is just as important to growing children and hard-working men-folks as any other, and should be prepared accordingly. That means each box must contain its full quota of vitamins and minerals and must be tempting enough to coax up a hearty appetite.

For vitamin's sake, be sure to include the following foods every day: milk in a thermos or pudding; bread for sandwiches; meat or cheese or egg or fish in sandwich fillings, salads or main dish; one fruit-plain, in salads or puddings; one vegetable - in sandwich filling, salads, main dish, or raw wrapped in waxed paper.

To vary the monotony of sawiches, try different kinds of bread; nut or dried fruit breads, brown bread, corn bread, whole wheat, raisin, oatmeal, graham, rye or cracked wheat. Whether you buy bread or bake your own, insist on enriched flour - it has more vitamins and minerals. In making sandwiches, don't be stingy with butter - spread it right to the edge. Cut sandwiches diagonally - they're easier to eat.

Pack lunch boxes as late as possible - food will be fresher and taste better. Scald and air metal lunch boxes and thermos bottles as soon as they're brought home. Once every week, rinse thermos and cork in solution of hot water and baking soda.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard, acting on authority from Mr. Henderson, issued a temporary order to ration new farm machinery and equipment, appointing Fred S. Wallace, AAA Administrator, to administer the program at the national level. OPA placed a printing order for the first issue of 150 million "all-purpose" ration books, to be called War Ration Book No. 2 designed for rationing any article or commodity, and to be distributed throughout probably before Christmas. William M. Jeffers, President of the Union Pacific Railroad, was appointed Rubber Director by President Roosevelt and WPB Chairman Nelson with "full responsibility for and control over the nation's rubber program in all of its phases."

Labor Supply

The WPA and the U. S. Employment Service set up a system whereby capable, certified persons on WPA rolls will be directed to jobs in industry and agriculture as needed. Approximately 850,000 persons were employed or awaiting assignment to WPA projects July 1—20 percent of the total active file of the Employment Service.

Transportation

At the request of WPB Chairman Nelson, the Defense Plant Corporation authorized Henry J. Kaiser, west coast shipbuilder, to construct three giant experimental cargo planes at a cost of $18,000,000. The first is expected to be completed in 15 months, the second in 20 months, and the third in 25 months. Mr. Kaiser also was asked to draw up plans for a factory in which the planes could be produced in volume in the event they were needed.

Farm Prices

The Commodity Credit Corporation will finance an Agricultural Marketing Administration program to purchase pork products processed from approximately 1,000,000 hogs, designed to relieve the price squeeze on small packers and to assure large supplies of processed products from the record 1942 spring pig crop. The OPA announced it will place its first ceilings on fruit at the producer stage on dried prunes and raisins.

Army

War Secretary Stimson told his press conference that the health of the Army in training in the U. S. is better than ever before during wartime, and it is expected the general hospital admission rate will be about 10 percent lower in 1942 than in 1941. Throughout 1941 and so far this year, the death rate has been the lowest in the history of the Army in training in the U. S. Administration Officer Candidate School, enlisted men who have been accepted for limited service and enlisted men between the ages of 45 and 50 may receive commissions and if they have equal qualifications, they will be given preference over men eligible for combat duty, the War Department said.

Selective Service

Selective Service Director Hershey said the size of the Army this year has been increased from the 4,500,000 total announced as the 1942 objective by Chief of Staff Marshall in June. Gen. Hershey said he expected married men with children would be called "the last quarter of 1943 at the very earliest, but I would like to hedge to the extent that the Army's requirements may go up"; 18 and 19-year-olds must be drafted next year, or "1,000,000 or 1,500,000 family men" will be taken; and it is expected unmarried men with dependents will be called this year.

Male of Species More Dangerous Than Female

Women have the reputation of being worse drivers than men but where accidents are concerned, statisticians can find no figures to substantiate this popular belief.

These facts are revealed in a new booklet "Smash Hits of the Year" just issued by The Travelers Insurance Company as the tenth in its annual series of bulletins dedicated to street and highway safety.

Despite the fact that a Gallup Poll showed a large majority of persons feel safer riding with a man at the steering wheel, the company's statisticians found that more than 90 per cent of all fatal and non-fatal accidents in 1939 involved male drivers. Where fatal accidents alone are considered, the female of the species has an even better record, being charged with the responsibility for less than seven per cent.

The answer undoubtedly rests in the fact that a greater number of men drive more miles each year and under more hazardous conditions, the article concludes. No method has yet been found to determine the relative risks faced by males and females and until such data are available no one can say with accuracy which sex is safer at the wheel.

Prepare Now for V-I-C-T-O-R-Y AFTER VICTORY

The problem of changing from war work, after World War I, to peacetime production, plunged us into a long and grim depression.

Rural America felt this depression five years ahead of industry and business. We tried to warn labor and capital but they would not believe the warning and insisted the rainbow and the pot of gold at the end would last forever.

Finally, the bubble broke and the storm came. We had 12 million unemployed, the domestic market for farm production was gone, and even the smaller export market survived only when we loaned Europe the money to buy our products. Farm income was reduced, mortgages increased and many farmers lost their farms while industry, big and little, was at its wits' end to survive.

To Prevent a Worse Depression. Our problem is to prevent even a worse depression at the end of this war. Every industry, big and little, has been retooled to produce airplanes, tanks, cannon and weapons of war. Millions and millions of dollars have been spent for this purpose.

When this war is ended it will take the same millions of dollars to turn these industries back to peacetime production.

Lessons of World War I.

We learned after World War I that our country cannot prosper unless agriculture prospers. We know now that our country cannot prosper unless agriculture, business and industry, and labor are all prosperous. Whatever our personal feeling may be, the fact remains that all of these groups taken together make up our domestic market which consumes over 90 per cent of our total production.

Labor can purchase its maximum of farm products if each worker has a permanent job at good wages. The employer can pay good wages if he has something useful to manufacture and some one has the desire and the money to buy it. Jobs at good wages depend upon an employer who is making the money necessary to pay the wages.

Farm Prices Reflect Good Business. This makes it plain that with employers and business busy in useful undertakings, with all workers employed at good wages, farm prices will be good and consumption at its maximum.

The key to the situation is that employers shall have the cash money at hand to change from war manufacture to peacetime activity with the least possible delay when this war ends.

Our United States Senate is searching for a plan that will produce maximum revenue to the government to insure victory; provide a fund at the end of the war big enough and quickly enough to convert business and industry from war work to peacetime necessity, but without the government having to borrow and lend the money for this purpose after the war is over.

Here Is a Simple, Practical Plan. For the solution of all these problems there is one simple plan of outstanding practical value, based on the idea that war profits from all companies, big and little, should be used for this purpose.

The tax rate on war profits is figured at about 90 per cent. Business and industry, big and little, would be permitted, however, to deduct from their taxable war profits 20 per cent of such profits, provided the deduction is used to purchase United States Recovery bonds.

Recovery bonds would be a special kind of bond for this purpose only. Recovery bonds could not be sold or borrowed upon during the war, and neither would they pay any interest. They must be held by the purchaser until the end of the war.

The day the war is over these bonds would automatically start to bear interest, could be bought and sold, and become the same as any other government bond. The purchaser could sell them or borrow upon them to obtain the money to change his business and plant from war production to peacetime production when and as he needed money to do this job.

Profits for Peace-Time Recovery. In other words, business, big or little, would be required to contribute 20 per cent of its own war profits to provide the money to change its own plants back to peacetime production.

The fairness and equity of such a plan is perfectly plain. Each company, by using 20 per cent of its own war profits to buy Recovery bonds, builds its own backlog to bridge from war production to normal peacetime activities. Big companies and small companies will buy in proportion to their size and needs until the war is over. In the meantime, our government receives the maximum in revenue to produce for victory, and we, the people, have established security against the worst depression of all time.

With such a plan adopted and in operation, we can all give our maximum to the war effort, secure in the fact that when the war is over we can quickly and safely go back to the paths of peace. The necessity for such a plan is so apparent, the evils of depression so grim and widespread that we, the people, can well afford to take time out to support our senators and congressmen in this effort to bypass another depression.

BOMBER TO THE RESCUE—A U. S. Navy patrol plane drops a folded rubber life-raft to two shipwrecked aviators indicated by the black buoy. As the raft leaves the plane it is automatically given buoyancy by an ingenious inflating device developed by engineers of Walter Kidde and Company, and employing the same liquid carbon dioxide that puts the fizz in soda pop and snuffs out airplane fires during flight.

"TIRES" FOR THE AIR CORPS—Rubber formerly destined for passenger car tires is now being used in Goodyear plants to make these life rafts for Army and Navy planes. Here workmen are adjusting the cylinders of liquid carbon dioxide which instantly inflates the rafts when the plane is forced down at sea. This split-second inflation method, developed by engineers of Walter Kidde and Company, is a 100% American engineering achievement.

MEN WHO LICKED THE LUFTWAFFE

The victory of September 15th was truly an Allied victory,* for fighting with the R.A.F. were squadrons of pilots from many of the United Nations. They took an honored place among the "so few" to whom not only Great Britain but the world owes so much. Especially notable were the pilots of Czech and Polish squadrons, most of them experienced fighting pilots who escaped to Great Britain after the invasion of their own countries.

Not all the credit for the victory, however, goes to the pilots. The R.A.F. ground crews, without meals or publicity, did the work that kept the planes in the air. Working in desperate haste they patched bullet holes, welded frames, overhauled motors. Because of their efforts, the R.A.F. was able to keep a maximum number of planes in the air.

Now, two years after the great battle of Sept. 15, 1940, the United Nations air forces are the most effective fighting force in the world. In England, R.A.F. fliers of a dozen nationalities have battled German raiders to a standstill. U. S. pilots with their Flying Fortresses have joined in the big air offensive against Germany. In Africa, Russia, the East Indies, China and the Pacific the fliers of the United Nations add daily to their list of victories. In this global war, most experts think, the victory will depend finally on air power. For this reason the Battle Over Britain was more than a single engagement. It was the cornerstone of the United Nations victory to come.

Czech pilots of this squadron (1000 of them are now in Britain) accounted for 8 German planes in one engagement. They were led by British flight officers (below).

Polish fliers have been on the wing since Dunkirk. Largest Allied unit in Britain, over 10,000 Polish pilots and crew members are now taking part in attacks on Germany.

THE LOW DOWN FROM HICKORY GROVE

Henry raises tomatoes. He raises good ones. Has about a half acre of them. All the breadwinners of the Govt. for months past have said, "Everybody raise tomatoes." Henry did so.

Henry took a couple lugs to his grocer. Grand tomatoes the fellow said. Do you have stamps on 'em, he says. What stamps are you talking about says Henry. I am not putting 'em in the mail box. Private stamps, the grocer says. I don't savvy, says Henry, why I have to have stamps. I pick 'em and bring 'em to you. It is no expense to the Govt. I don't know, said the grocer, but I would be in jail by sundown, he says, if I tried to sell these tomatoes without a stamp on the box. Henry is in a quandary. Also he is fighting mad. To hunt up the stamp man he has to use more time and gas than he will get from his two boxes of tomatoes. Henry will soon be needing a stenographer and a bookkeeper. He already needs a piece of ice for his brow. He is charmed in red tape. If folks want tomatoes, he says, but not at caviar prices, they gotta do something about it. He is at the end of his rope.

Yours with the low down,
JO SIERRA

FRANKLIN GRANGE BRYANT POND

Franklin Grange of Bryant Pond met Saturday evening, Sept. 19. Several officers were absent. The first and second degrees were given to Miss Ramona Farnum.

There will be pictures, a speaker, and other numbers on the program. This will be an open meeting to anyone who wishes to come and hope there will be a good attendance.

PUBLICITY BOONDOGGING

Federal publicity often borders on the ridiculous, reports the Citizen's Emergency Committee. Four days before Pearl Harbor the Navy Department released to the nation the favorite recipes of Navy officers' wives. One recipe was for "Niu Moa Ai," a Hawaiian concoction of coconut and chicken. Another was for "Rum-Bumble Pudding."

Nearly five months after Pearl Harbor, the Department of Agriculture released for the edification of taxpayers, "Fashion predictions in sundae, ice creams and sorbets. . . . Royal Apricot, Swiss Nectarine, Passion Fruit, Klondyke Strawberry." On occasions the department has prized American readers with releases as "War Places New London on Eastern Russian Agriculture," and a bibliography on the culture of American Indians. Library of Congress contributed its share under titles such as "Bibliography of Latin American Folk Music."

As soon as planes landed on the fighter airdromes during the Battle of Britain mechanics reloaded the wing-mounted machine-guns and refilled the gas tanks.

Today the air battle of Britain has become the Battle of Germany. In this battle are airmen of the United Nations. Below a U. S. ground crew cheers as a Flying Fortress takes off—destination, a target in Naziland.

Nazi planes brought down in England were dismantled and then smelted down to produce more Spitfires and Hurricanes for the Allied Air Force.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Essential in the equipment of every Soldier, Sailor, Marine or Flyer is a first aid kit, consisting of bandages and antiseptics for instantaneous use. These materials are packed into a compact box and cost about $1.50 each.

We need millions of these first aid kits for emergency treatment. They are also used by Red Cross workers, in field hospitals and wherever needed until hospital treatment may be obtained. Even a child could buy one or more of these kits through purchase of War Stamps. Buy War Bonds and Stamps every pay day and invest at least ten percent of your income in these government securities.

A scout car is a low-slung motor car armored with heavy steel plate, used to transport troops from one point to another. It is of low silhouette and gives protection against machine gun and other ground fire. A scout car costs $5,000.

You and your neighbors joining together can buy one of these vehicles for the Ordnance Department of our army with your purchase of War Bonds. We need hundreds of them and need them quickly. Put at least ten percent of your wages or income into War Bonds every pay day and help your fellow Americans top the War Bond Quota in your county.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Gas masks which came into use in warfare for the first time when the Germans used poison and mustard gas in World War I, are much improved today over those used then. The Chemical Warfare Branch of the War Department issues these gas masks to every man in the service. We are taking no chances.

The type pictured here is the "can" and "elephant nose" mask and costs about $2.25 each. The headgear is transparent, made of material resembling cellophane and does not cloud with the breath. You can buy two of these gas masks with the purchase of an $18.75 War Bond. We need thousands of them. Don't fail to give at least ten percent of your income every pay day for War Bonds. Buy them at your bank or postoffice, regularly.

GOULD MEETS HEBRON RESERVES THURSDAY

On Thursday afternoon, Gould's 1942 gridiron edition will be presented, locking horns with the Hebron Reserves, a team that has already taken the measure of Norway High by a 13-0 score. The Gould eleven will take the field with few veterans, but many new prospects have developed during the practice sessions these past few days. Coolidge in the backfield, Reid at center, Hawkins an end, and Bennett at tackle are the only veterans of last year.

Coach Fortier has been putting considerable time on Coolidge, Emery, Rosenberg, and Jacobs in the backfield. Whether these men will eventually be the starting quartet of carriers is not as yet decided, but they certainly look the part of a fine combination. Bradley, Kneeland, and Heathcote are also improving in ball-carrying technique.

Line Coach Myers has a likely looking group out for the various line positions. Berry, Hawkins, and Holt are hot contenders for the end berths, with Lyon and Packard also showing up well. For tackles, Bennett, Grover, and Parker seem most likely to succeed at the present time, but others are improving daily. McAlister, Wright, Gilman, and Melcher are likely looking guard material. Veteran Jim Reid and Sanborn are working out at the center post. There are also a number of men who have been trying out for the backfield who may be shifted to line positions if they can make the grade there.

The 1942 schedule is far from complete, but it is hoped that at least a five-game schedule can be completed. Norway High will play here on Oct. 10, and Wilton Academy plans to be here on Oct. 31. Fryeburg and South Paris may be able to fill in the other dates.

The game of chief interest right now, however, is the opening tussle with the Hebron Reserves. This game is scheduled for 3:00 o'clock on Thursday, Oct. 1.

The 1942 Squad

TEACHERS OF BETHEL UNION

It is planned to hold several meetings during the year, at which time Dr. Payson Smith will probably be present to formulate more definite plans and make concrete suggestions. It is hoped that a joint study may be made and carried out between teachers of the Academy and grade schools in such core subject as mathematics, English and history, that we may have more of a continuous development of these subjects, without the possible break that sometimes takes place between the two school systems.
